WEEKLY CROP REPORT

NO DECIDED BREAK YET IN THE DROUGHT

YOUNG CANE NEEDS RAIN—A SHORTAGE OF WATER FOR FLOWING—PLOWING SUGAR LANDS.

For the Week Ending Feb. 24, 1906. Local Office, U. S. Weather Bureau, Honolulu, T. H., Feb. 26, 1906. GENERAL SUMMARY.

Although very light showers have occurred at intervals in nearly all sections of the Group, there has been no decided break yet in the drought. Temperatures during the past week have continued decidedly above the normal. Young cane needs rain, especially in windward districts, where, also, shortage of water for flowing purposes is seriously interfering with harvesting operations, which are proceeding very rapidly as possible, however, since 1906 cane is ripening rapidly. Plowing of sugar lands has been quite general, and a little planting has been done. The transplanting of first crop rice will soon be finished, and young rice is generally reported as in good condition and growing nicely. Conditions have been quite favorable for the ripening of winter pineapples; the summer crop is also coming along nicely, and young pineapple plants are growing rapidly. Pastures in all sections of the Group are much in need of rain. Sisal in both central Maui and leeward Oahu is reported as in good condition.

REMARKS BY CORRESPONDENTS.

ISLAND OF HAWAII.

Kaunaloa—Cloudy weather and light showers near the end of the week mark the only break in the drought; young cane and vegetables are suffering for want of rain, and harvesting of cane has been suspended owing to shortage of water in the flumes; pastures are dry; weeding and stripping of cane are in progress.—J. E. Gamalielson.

Ponahawai—The drought continues; pastures are dry, and vegetation is suffering; we are plowing land and preparing to plant cane.—J. E. Gamalielson.

Hilo—Warm, dry weather continues; crops need rain badly.—L. C. Lyman.

Papaikou—The weather is still dry, and crops are growing very slowly; we are plowing land and stripping and weeding cane.—J. T. Moir.

Pepeekeo—The weather is still dry, but with increasing cloudiness; we are cutting and grinding cane, clearing, plowing, harrowing and furrowing.—James Webster.

Honoum—We had light showers of rain on the 23d and 24th which have been of great benefit to growing crops; the clearing and plowing of land and the harvesting of cane continue.—Wm. Pullar.

Hakalau—The dry and sultry weather still continues, and plowing is difficult for want of water; we are hoeing, fertilizing, stripping, harvesting, plowing and planting.—J. M. Ross.

Laupahoehoe—The weather continues very dry, with occasional strong trade winds; the light showers which have occurred have not been sufficient to lay the dust.—W. L. Barnard.

Ookala—The weather continues dry, with strong trade winds; the harvesting of cane continues.—W. G. Walker.

Panaloa—The week has been dry, with high and very drying east winds and warmer nights; crops need rain and are making a slow growth.—C. K. Blacow.

Panunau—The weather has been warm and dry, with strong trade winds; good progress is being made with harvesting.—H. Glass.

Honokaa—The weather has continued warm and dry, with very little wind until the 26th, when a strong north-east wind began.—C. H. Braze.

Niihau—Light showers have fallen, with strong trade winds and rapidly moving clouds during the last four days.—Robt. Hall.

Kohala—The weather has been showery; we are planting and grinding cane.—W. O. Taylor.

Kohala Mission—The weather has been partly cloudy, with occasional showers.—Dr. B. D. Bond.

Puukoa Ranch—A cool and cool weather during fore part of week was followed by light rains during the latter part; stock and pastures are doing well, but more rain would be beneficial.—A. Mason.

Punahoa—Calm weather prevailed during the first part of the week and was followed by strong trade winds; the nights have been cool and no rain has fallen.—S. P. Woods.

Kamuela—Very light showers occurred on the 26th, 21st and 22d; the days have been warm, but the nights have been rather cool.—Mrs. E. W. Hay.

Honokaa—The past week has been rather cloudy and not so warm, but with no rain; pastures are becoming short, but stock is not suffering to any great extent as yet.—F. R. Greenwell.

Kealahou—The weather has been partly cloudy, but with no rain.—Rev. S. H. Davis.

Kealahou—The weather has been very cloudy during the past week, but with no rain.—Robt. Wallace.

Nalehu—The weather has been very dry, with more or less wind; the water supply is very low in the mountains.—G. G. Kinney.

Pahala—Light showers occurred during the early part of the week, but otherwise the weather has been fair.—H. D. Harrison.

Kapoho—The weather has been warmer this week; northeasterly winds on the 21st and 22d were accompanied by showers at night; pastures need a heavy rain.—H. J. Lyman.

ISLAND OF MAUI. Kipahulu—The week has been dry, with very warm days; we are weeding and fertilizing 1907 cane and harvesting and grinding 1906 cane; rain will be needed very soon.—H. Neubaer.

Hana—The weather continues dry and clear, and all vegetation shows the effect of the drought which continues to be seriously felt in every way; no rain is in sight.—N. Omsted.

Nahiku—It has been very warm and dry this week, with the exception of the 22d when we had a nice rain.—C. O. Jacobs.

Huelo—The fore part of the week was a repetition of the last few weeks; the trade winds began to blow again on the 21st, bringing showery weather which still continues; range stock is in fair condition, although pasture is scarce; conditions are very dry throughout the entire Koolau district.—W. F. Pogue.

Peahi—Dry weather during fore part of week has been followed by light showers.—Geo. Groves.

Haiku—Dry, sunny and warm weather has been very favorable for pineapple growth, but sugar plantation irrigation ditches are very low and pastures are getting dry; cane is advancing slowly.—D. D. Baldwin.

Pala—Dry weather has continued during the past week.—J. J. Jones.

Punahoa—The weather has been very dry, and water in the irrigation ditches has fallen to a low point; harvesting is proceeding rapidly and cane is holding up in quality very well.—J. N. S. Williams.

Wailuku—Dry, sunny weather has continued, with light winds and cool nights; all streams are very low and water is getting scarce; young cane and rice are doing well, and there is a sufficient supply of green feed; vegetables are scarce.—Bro. Frank.

Kihel—The weather has been somewhat warmer this week, but is still very dry and rain is much needed; we are harvesting cane and plowing land and pumping water.—James Scott.

ISLAND OF OAHU. Maunawili—Fine weather prevailed during the greater part of the week, but rain began during Friday night and still continues.—John Herd.

Waimanalo—Dry, warm weather during most of the week was followed by showers on the 23d.—A. Irvine.

Paloa—Dry weather continues except for light showers at night; the transplanting of rice is nearly finished, and young rice is growing nicely.—P. L. Webster.

Manoa—Weather has been warm, with very little rain during first part of week, but light showers during last three days; on Friday night, a good rain in the mountains caused Manoa streams to rise and gave two patches of water.—F. N. Parker.

Ewa—The weather has been fine all week, with a trace of rain on the 23d, crops are in good condition, and the harvesting of cane is proceeding steadily.—W. Lohrengel.

Sisal—The weather has been warm and very dry, several small showers which have fallen not having been sufficient to lay the dust; weather conditions at present are unsettled; sisal is in splendid condition.—Wm. Weinrich, Jr.

Waianae—Warm days have been the rule all week, and night temperatures have been a little higher; a trace of rain fell on the 23d, but otherwise the week was dry.—F. Meyer.

Waialae—We have had another rather dry week; winter pineapples are ripening fast, and the summer crop of young plants are in good condition.—W. R. Waters.

ISLAND OF KAUAI. Makawili—The weather has been clear and fine; trade winds set in on the 21st, and a light shower of rain fell on the 23d.—Hawaiian Sugar Co.

Elelee—Except for a light shower during the forenoon of the 23d, the weather has continued dry and warm; cane crops are doing very well.—McLure Sugar Co.

Koloa—The weather has been warm, with light showers on the 26th and 23d amounting to .40 inch; a heavy rain would be very beneficial for growing crops.—P. McLane.

Lihue—Rather dry weather and light winds have continued during the past week.—F. Weber.

Kealia—The dry spell has been broken by showers during the latter part of the week; the days have been clear, with light winds and higher temperatures.—W. Jarvis.

Kilauea—The dry weather still continues; the fore part of the week was warm, but cold winds have been blowing for the last two days.—L. B. Boreiko.

Hanalei—The dry weather is beginning to tell on upland pastures; young rice is doing well.—E. G. K. Deverill.

A. MC. ASHLEY, Section Director.

TESTA GIVES THANKS

Editor Evening Bulletin—Speaking for those living on the tortuous by-way known as Auld Lane, Kapalama, I desire to express thanks, on their behalf, through the medium of your column, to the authorities who caused in station of five 16-candle power incandescent electric lights, lighting the darkness from King street up to and past Mrs. Auld's residence. That long suffering section now enjoys the same boon as other sections in this "city of magnificent distances" and thanks be to the powers that are. These lights were first lighted on the evening of Wednesday last, the 21st instant. It is to be hoped that a few more such lights will be installed further on and along that lane.

Since living in that section, it has been my pleasure to enjoy three public boons, which were badly needed: first, the macadamizing of the said lane; second, the laying of branch water pipes from the main, and thirdly, the installation of electric lights.

I also desire, on their behalf, to thank you, Mr. Editor, for this space.

F. J. TESTA.
